

MY NAME IS Benny...

and I'm 18 years old. I like to party, but not as much as I used to. About eight months ago it was my girlfriend's birthday so we decided to take some ecstasy. The person we got them from before was out of pills that day so we went through another friend.

He said the pills were not as strong so I took two and my girlfriend took one. One hour went by and I didn't feel anything so I snorted some coke to get it poppin'!

✦ Man oh man, that was a BAD IDEA! ✦

My body did not like what I had done and I ended up flipping out on my girl. We got into this big fight and I was so out of my head that I hit her. I don't even remember doing this; all I can remember is waking up in the ER with my girl crying with a black eye.
